

DR. SUSAN LEE DUNCAN

Dr. Susan Duncan assumed the position of Director of Human Resources, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers on July 3, 1994. In this capacity she is responsible for all policies related to civilian and military personnel.

Prior to her current position, Dr. Duncan was the Director, Human Resources at the Naval Air Systems Command in Crystal City, Virginia. Before that position, she served as Director, Human Resources at the Navy Strategic Systems Programs, also headquartered in Crystal City. Dr. Duncan held previous positions in both Army and Navy activities, as Equal Employment Opportunity manager.

Dr. Duncan received her bachelors and Masters degrees at Marshall University in Huntington, West Virginia. She received her Doctorate of Education at Virginia Polytechnic Institute. She is a graduate of the Federal Executive Institute. Prior to her Federal Government Service, she was a member of the faculty at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Duncan is a recipient of the Meritorious Civilian Service Award and The Presidential Meritorious Rank Award.

Dr. Duncan is married to Randy Rice and the couple resides in Davidsonville, Maryland.